During the summer, cocktails have to serve more of a purpose than just getting you drunk. When the temperatures are this high, only something refreshing and served with plenty of ice will do. You may take your whiskey neat the rest of the year, but even the most discerning drinkers can't resist an excellent summer cocktail. Better add these ten libations to your seasonal drinking repertoire — it may be the only way to tolerate the 100-plus degree days to come.

1 Midnight Rambler

As with the rest of the year, summer is a great time to find yourself in this "craft cocktail salon" at the Joule. The cocktails here are as drinkable as they are odd, which means that you may find yourself suddenly addicted to slurping down ice-cold vodka and pho broth, the cheekily named Pho-King Champ, in the same glass. If that isn't avant-garde enough for you, try The Psychedelic Sound Of The Improved Bergamot Sour, made with Earl Grey-infused gin, maraschino liqueur, and bergamot essence.

6 Remedy

At this Lower Greenville throwback spot, Mate Hartai has assembled a collection of highballs and cocktails that will keep your thirst at bay all summer long. The sodas, syrups, tinctures, and other fancy components are all house-made, and as fresh as can be. Try the Melon Ball, made with rum agricole and housemade Dew! soda (think Mountain Dew but much fancier and fresher) for a sweet and exceptionally melony sip.

7 Meso Maya

Obviously, margaritas are a must during the summer, and Downtown's Meso Maya is home to some of the best. The avocado margarita is a particular favorite, and avocados are like, totally healthy which makes 5 or 6 of these on the patio totally justifiable from a health perspective. In fact, many of these margaritas look like something you'd order at a fancy juice bar with all the organic tequila, fresh fruit purees, and even vegetables. Cucumber totally counts as a vegetable.
